

OLEAN

OF '54

"Calling All Carrs"

1. Taming a lady pole-cat.
2. The Carr snobs and Penny.
3. The Henry Carr family.
4. Please, don't shoot me.
5. The wealthy victim and his valet.

To My Classmates:

You have reached a minor milestone in your lives. There will be major ones to follow. For some, a greater milestone will be graduation from college; for others owning a farm; and for a few others it will be engineering, nursing and school-teaching. It takes all sorts of people to make a world. You have many varied ambitions and hopes. I hope one day you will all realize your ambitions.

Classmates, do your work and do it well. If you do the best you can, no man can rightfully condemn you. Make a place in life for yourself, and then fill it well.

I wish to thank you as a class for the splendid cooperation shown me while I was your president. You have supplied me and the rest of your classmates with many happy memories that we will someday look back on.

I wish you all the success possible in your future lives. As you go forward, make your place in life and then fill it well.

RALPH S. MAST
President of the Class of '54

BASKETBALL

The Oley JV's included many veterans whose playing promised much for the '54-'55 varsity. The year did not start off too well for the varsity, although the tough opposition did not discourage these spirited players. Lost to next year's team will be captain Carl Mathias, Gene Reinert, Roger Angstadt, Guy Lorah, and Henry Bieber.

First row—R. Fox, L. Albright, W. Stapleton, K. Lorah, R. Oswald, M. Dietrich, K. Snyder
Second row—Mr. Wise, E. Long, R. Schaeffer, S. Custer, J. Hoffman, R. Hiester, T. Shappell, F. Eyrich, R. Angstadt, E. Taylor, J. Reider

BOYS' LEADERS

The purpose of this club is to promote active participation in sports, good sportsmanship, and leadership. The boys play various sports such as basketball, table tennis, and baseball. The club is divided into two parts, junior 7-9 and senior 10-12. Each member must pay Athletic Association dues, keep a sports scrapbook, and participate in at least one Interscholastic sport.

GIRLS' LEADERS

The aim of the club is to promote good sportsmanship. Some of this year's activities will be to train girls to act as referees and to make a Girls' Leaders emblem of blue and white felt. The club will help to sponsor two dances at the school as a means of making money to buy more athletic equipment. In the club period the students are able to use the auditorium for basketball and other sports.

PRESS CLUB

This ambitious club is responsible for the seven publications of our paper, "Speak-O-Link." Weekly the club meets to write articles for the paper and to receive general instruction on journalism, which is supervised by Mr. Brightbill. Being a member of the P.S.P.A., N.S.P.A., and C.S.P.A., the paper is rated annually. The club is open for anyone from grades seven through twelve who is interested in journalism.

Left to right—Sylvia Copley, Erma Angstadt, Phyllis Stauffer, Henry Bieber, Elwood Long, Barbara Hassler, and Mary Kate Herbein are busily addressing Speak-O-Links to be sent to outside subscribers.

Cheerleaders

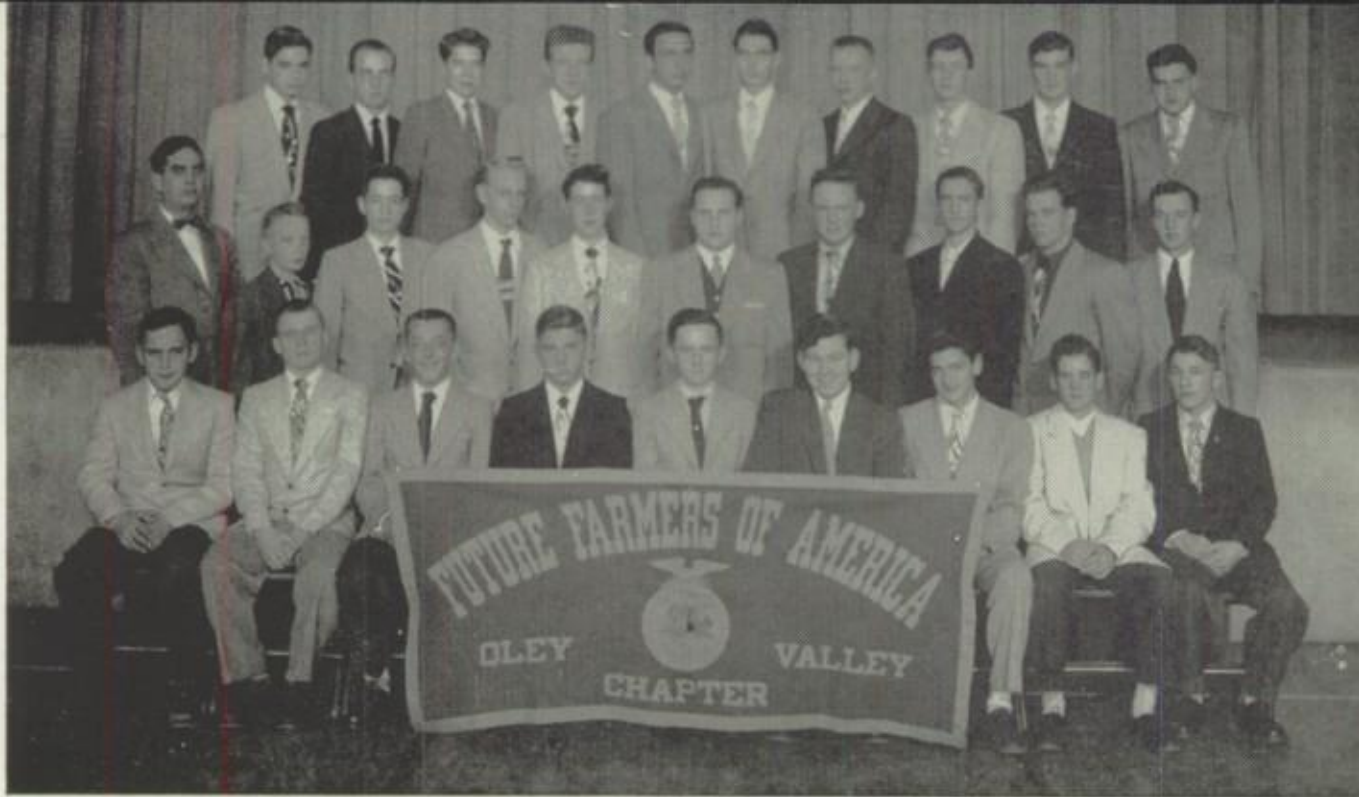

SCIENCE

This club is open to seventh and eighth grade students. Projects include: building airplane models, collecting flowers, and simple experiments in science. The club has twelve members and meets biweekly.

CHEERLEADERS

Can you recall all the familiar cheers shouted at the basketball games? Of course, you saw the girls in their blue and white uniforms. They are directed by the advisor, Miss Scheffler, once a week. At that time they rehearse their cheers and select new ones. For their faithfulness during basketball season they receive a letter "O" at the end of the year.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

This organization, which is a member of the National F. F. A. Organization, is open to all vocational boys from grades nine to twelve. Before one is admitted, he must be initiated. After this ceremony he is a Green Hand. The purpose of this worthwhile club is to promote better methods in farming. The members display their projects at the various local fairs. Two yearly projects are selling seed and sponsoring the father and son banquet.

Fifty-four

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

This club is open to girls from grades seven to twelve and meets every two weeks. The club strives to teach the pupils cooperation in many activities in which they participate. The girls also take part in the Halloween parade.

The library club was organized to stimulate interest in the library and to further the ambition of "would be" librarians. The club traveled in the spring and fall to the meeting of the Teenage Librarians' Association.

In its club meeting the members helped prepare new books for the shelves, mend old books, or assist the librarian in some other way. Some of the members helped behind the desk in the mornings, at noon or after school.

Art Club

This club consists of eighteen members, boys and girls from grades seven to twelve, who meet once a week. Some of the activities of the art club are: soap-carving, making Christmas cards from block prints, and also water color and pen and ink drawings. Work is also done on candles which are made from paraffin. Pastels, which consist of landscapes and portraits, are used too. The students have tin can work sometimes; painting with oil colors is found to be interesting. Then, too, plates are made from copper.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The student council, which meets once a week, is an organization composed of representatives from grades seven to twelve. The members of this club under the guidance of Mr. Wise, Miss Lash and Mr. Kramer are able to solve the problems of the students. The spring prom, the only semi-formal dance of the year, is sponsored by the student council.

DEBATING

Twelve students studied and discussed the assigned debate topic — "Resolved: That the President of the United States should be elected by a direct vote of the people." Speeches were prepared and given at three meetings held during the week of February 22-26 at Exeter, Mt. Penn, and Oley.

S o c c e r

With the able coaching of Mr. Knabb, the Oley High School soccer team showed the spirit and fight they are known for. On October 13 they traveled to Birdsboro, hoping to beat the Birds and win the championship. But they lost the big game 3-0. Seniors lost to the squad are: Co-Captains Gene Reinert and Guy Lorah, Roger Angstadt, Carl Mathias, and Bernard Yeager.

This year we had only a varsity team. There were a total of seven seniors on the team. The forward line was spirited onward by Fern Correll, Betty Hoover, and Shirley Howard. The halfbacks, Naomi Angstadt and Molly Bieber, aided the forward line. Defending the goal were Doris Breidegam and Kay Felix, the fullbacks. None of the team can ever forget the strategic falls that Molly frequently executed.

To the Class of '54:

The goals you set are there for you to reach and surpass. Our class wishes you the best of luck for your success. We hope that in the future, when on your own, you will keep to your motto "Not at the top, but climbing." If you follow this motto, nothing but success will lie ahead for you. We hope to accomplish as much now as your class did along the route which we'll follow.

Let's Meet the Juniors

Entering the lobby of a modern theatre, we see Francis, Janet A., Doris, Mary Lou, and Janet B. talking about the stars of the production which they are about to see. Near the door we notice George and Titus waiting impatiently for their companions.

Making our way to the balcony, we spy June, Curtis, Gloria, and Jack noisily munching on popcorn. This noise irritates Thomas, Mary, and Sylvia, who are looking over their programs. As the lights dim and the curtain rises, we hear Eugene, Janet M., John, Barbara S., and Terry telling jokes and laughing noisily. Although the play is interesting, Helen, Joyce, Jean, and Mary Kate have other things to discuss. They are trying to decide what to do after the show.

As we enter the lobby during intermission, we see Jacob, Ernest, and Harold Z. talking about the leading lady. We make our way through the crowd and join in their conversation. When the lights dim, we are all settled comfortably in our seats. As the curtain rises, we hear Marjorie, Barbara R., Kathleen, Anna Mae, and Nancy laughing and talking as they stroll down the aisle to their seats.

Thirty

During the final scene we hear a noise in the right corner. Warren, Harold R., and Herbert are contentedly snoring. The curtain falls and thundering applause awakens our sleeping beauties.

Leaving the building, Merrill and Joseph are enthusiastically discussing the production. Roy and Kathryn join them and agree that the play was very entertaining. We will remember the play and the people in the audience for a long time to come.

To the Class of 1954:

"Not at the top, but climbing" is a fitting motto. You have been making steady progress for the past twelve years. You have now attained one goal—graduation from high school. Success is yours by reason of your efforts and ideals. Congratulations to each and every member of the class. May success and happiness be yours always.

The underlying thought in your motto is progress-growth. Inner growth in a human being is a matter of striving. By our own will we must push up through the hard crust of accustomed ideas and reach out into the light of greater wisdom. The power lies in us. It is a miraculous power. It is tortured mankind's greatest hope.

To develop the soul: that is success. To build up a personality of value, one that is brave, pure, true, beautiful, strong and God-like: that is success. To choose the highest for one's aim and to remain true throughout life: that is success. The rank and file of us may never do anything that the world takes notice of, but we make ourselves of value if we live sincerely, think and speak truly, do our bit bravely and well, and lay the emphasis of our living upon the values that have that permanence for which God stands.

Great things are not done in a day. The many little things added together make the great one. The earth is composed of atoms, the century of moments, and our lives of little acts. Only the present is ours, and wasted opportunities are never presented to us again. Life is made up of success and failure. We all expect success. History has proven certain fundamental principles are the only safe way for one who wishes to travel through life securely, and with deep satisfaction to himself and service to others. Most of us were taught these truths by our parents, our church and our teachers. The moment we deviate from these truths we are getting off the highway. Check your actions with the master map. Only by perseverance are we able to overcome the opposition. The sweetest flowers are guarded by the sharpest thorns, so our greatest achievements may be surrounded by the most trying difficulties. There is work to be done as there always will be—"climbing", never stop trying.

"Heaven is not reached at a single bound,
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And mount to its summit round by round."

Board of Directors

Seated: Dr. Mark D. Grim, president; Mrs. Naomi K. Gehret, secretary; Mr. Harold J. Herbein, treasurer.

Standing: Mr. Henry H. Eyrich, vice president; Mr. Frank S. Fisher.

To the Class of 1954:

Let us extend to you on behalf of the Board of School Directors very sincere congratulations on the successful completion of your high school course of study.

As you realize, you are "Not at the top, but climbing". May I wish for each one of you that you may continue to work and learn so that you may eventually find yourselves in a better position to better serve the community to which you will find yourselves a responsible attachment.

President, The Board of Education

Dedication

We, the class of 1954, dedicate our yearbook to the members of the armed forces, those men and women who have served this nation in peace and war.

These people have responded whenever they were called upon to defend the rights and ideals of democracy. Their gallant and brave deeds have preserved the rights of the freedoms which we enjoy. Many of these men have given the supreme sacrifice, their lives, at Valley Forge, the Marne, Gettysburg, Iwo Jima, and the battle of the Bulge, where they died in order to preserve the rights of this democratic nation.

We are indebted to them for our freedom, welfare, and even our lives. No one will ever be able to realize to the full extent the importance of their accomplishments in our nation's history and future. Today thousands of men and women stand ready to defend this country against powers of antidemocratic nations. We salute them, the truly great of the past, present, and future. To the armed forces we proudly dedicate our class efforts which comprise the Olean of '54.

Alma Mater

We sing to Oley High School,
Noble and strong.
To thee with loyal hearts,
We raise our song.
May your spirits never die,
Nor your walls decay.
We will sing our praises,
Through endless days.

We make for thee a crown,
Rest on thy brow
Pride, honor, glory, love,
Before thee bow.
Swelling to Heaven's high
Our praises ring.
Pray that Oley High School
Survives all things.

Preview

We, the class of '54, have used the theatre as a pattern for the Olean. We have transformed teachers and members of the school board into producers and directors, seniors into stars, and underclassmen into co-stars. We have divided the publication into three acts, replete with snapshots depicting the various activities of the students during the school term.

Our motto, "Not at the top, but climbing," well applies to the life of anyone who is connected with the theatre. He starts at the bottom as a prop-man or minor actor and finally, after expending much time and effort, achieves success. Like him, we too must never cease striving, but continue to do our best.

We, the class of '54, "not at the top, but climbing," will try to repay society for the valuable assistance it has rendered through the school in giving us a proper start upon the stage of life. We realize that the responsibility for success in this gigantic theatre of life now lies entirely with ourselves. Consequently, we are cognizant of the fact that this success cannot be attained by interrupting our climb to the top of the ladder.

We have enjoyed preparing this publication; we hope that you, the reader, will become familiar with the life of a student of Oley High School. We believe that it will be the means of perpetuating many pleasant memories in the hearts of the members of our class.
